West Expects New Problem In Germany

BONN, Germany (AP) — Western officials said Monday they expect the Soviet Union to grow "noisier and nastier" in dealing with the Berlin problem between now and the summit meeting May 16.

These officials said the Soviets are likely to aim increasingly heavy verbal fire at German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer. He has been a prime Communist target for the past month or so and there is little sign of a let-up.

Adenauer, has been pictured as a warmonger, the architect of the cold war, and a villain fighting efforts to bring harmony between East and West.

West Stiffens

So far this campaign by the Soviet Union and Communist East Germany appears to have done little more than stiffen the Western stand against concessions on Berlin.

President Eisenhower last week told a news conference a grave situation would exist if the Soviets were to try to limit Western occupation rights in Berlin. The Eisenhower statement was cheered by political circles in Bonn.

Adenauer, the Christian Democrat leader, has been working in recent months to create a solid front with Willy Brandt, the Socialist mayor of West Berlin. After a series of conferences, they announced they were in perfect agreement on a tough Western position on Berlin.

Both parties strongly oppose negotiations between West Germany and the East German regime.

This position is diametrically opposed to the Soviet view that Germany can be reunited only through direct negotiations between the two Germans.

Royal Family Announces Name Change

LONDON (AP) — Queen Elizabeth II Monday changed the name of future generations of her royal family to Mountbatten-Windsor.

The Queen's decision adds Prince Philip's name, Mountbatten, to the Queen's own name of Windsor.

No one will be eligible to use the new name for about 40 years. This is because royal princes and princesses in direct line for the throne do not use a surname.

The first to use it will be the Queen's great grandchildren, and only those out of the direct line.

Birth Awaited

The Queen's tribute to her husband came as crowds of sightseers kept vigil at the palace gates for any sign of the birth of the Queen's third child. It is expected any day.

Philip returned to Buckingham Palace two days ago from a shooting vacation in Norfolk to be near when his child is born.

The Queen's privy councillors—her state advisers—were summoned to the palace Monday. Then, in the ornate language of the royal proclamation, they were told how the Queen wished her descendants to be known.

Miner Killed In Rock Fall

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — One rock fall 150 feet under ground at the nearby Moosic mine of the Lombardi Coal Company. Two other men caught in the cave-in were rescued.

Crushed in the rock fall was Isaac Stark, 35, of Springbrook, Lackawanna County, a tiny community of 50 or so in the heart of Pennsylvania's anthracite area.

Disabled Plane Lands At A-B-E

ALLENTOWN (AP) — A United Airlines Convair plane bound from Newark, N. J., to Cleveland, Ohio, made an emergency landing without incident Monday night at the Allentown-Bethlehem-Easton Airport.

The plane's captain had reported engine trouble. Twenty-three passengers and a crew of three were aboard.

Disc Jockey Admits He Received $6,817 From Record Distributors

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Boston disc jockey testified Monday he received $6,817 from record distributors — but said it wasn't payola.

Crew-cut David Maynard said the distributors over a three-year period sent him checks and made payments on his cars in appreciation for his playing some of their records at non-broadcast teenage record hops.

Maynard and a fellow jockey at Boston radio station WBZ, Alan Dary, were the first of their trade to testify publicly at a new round of hearings by the House Legislative Oversight Subcommittee. It is looking into side pay for song-plugging, unannounced advertising on the air, and reports of commercial bribery and wrong-doing.

Both Maynard and Dary, who have been placed on probation by the station, denied their activities added up to payola. They said the payments were not for any choice of music that was broadcast. Federal law requires that any payment for broadcast material be made known on the air.

Lists Gifts

Dary testified he accepted a total of $400 to $500 in various cash Christmas gifts, a hi-fi set from 20th Century Fox, and about $500 worth of carpeting from one of his sponsors.

"I never played the raucous type of music that I associate with payola," he told the subcommittee.

Government accountant David Keelan testified the payments to Maynard came from four record firms — Music Suppliers, Dumont Distributors, Mutual Distributors and Records, Inc.

Paul G. O'Friel, general manager of WBZ, said an investigation of the jockeys was negative so far as payola was concerned, but that the station was sufficiently concerned about the gifts to place the two men on probation.

Prescott Quizzed

O'Friel testified he did authorize employees to solicit for the station gifts of records and albums from producers to build up what was originally a "carefully sparse" collection.

Earlier at a two-and-a-half hour closed door session the subcommittee questioned Norman Prescott, still another disc jockey who had worked in Boston as well as New York.

Pennsylvania Hearings

Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the Legislative Oversight subcommittee denounced what he termed "wholly unfounded reports" that the group was concentrating on particular stations, areas or individuals.

Finch Ends Direct Testimony By Admitting Romantic Affairs With Two Other Women

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch admitted Monday illicit love affairs with two other women before he made Carole Tregoff his mistress.

The society surgeon and his pretty paramour are on trial charged with murdering the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch.

The wealthy physician ended four days of direct testimony Monday morning by saying he wandered away dazed, then fled in panic to Las Vegas, Nev., after accidentally shooting Mrs. Finch in a struggle for a gun.

Prosecutor Fred N. Whicello asked about the other women — both, like Miss Tregoff, employees at the doctor's clinic — on cross-examination.

Whicello referred to them, to protect their names, as Mrs. X and Mrs. Y.

Dr. Finch said he had sex relations with Mrs. X in 1953 and 1954, sometimes once a month, "usually in automobiles." He said she was married then and still is, as far as he knows.

His romance with Miss Y began in 1956 and may have extended into early 1957, he said, adding: "She wasn't married. She had been recently divorced." He called her Miss Y.

Dr. Finch, 42, and Mrs. Finch, 36, were married in 1951. He has said she became frigid toward him after the birth of their son in 1953. In 1956, he says, they agreed to stay married for financial reasons but to go their separate ways socially. The romance with Mrs. X began before this agreement, he said.

He says he first made love to Miss Tregoff, 23, then a receptionist at his clinic, February of 1957. But first, he said, he broke off with Miss Y.

His wife's frigidity seemed to exist before he started stepping out on her, he said. The first time he recalls going out with another woman, he said, was after an office Christmas party in 1953.

Mrs. Finch was beaten and shot to death last July 18 at the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

The doctor has said he and Miss Tregoff went there to talk about her pending divorce suit, and she pulled a gun. He said it went off during their struggle and he knelt sobbing beside her as she gasped her last words: "Take care of the kids."

Commission Outlines Advantages

MORE THAN a hundred citizens attended a public hearing in the Court House last night at which the Stroud Township Planning and Zoning Commission explained its reasons for proposing a planning and zoning program for the township.

The commission has made a study of the need for such a program and plans to recommend the establishment of land use districts to the township supervisors.

H. Glenn Sanborn Jr., vice chairman of the commission, presided at the hearing. In his opening remarks, Sanborn said:

Public Wishes Respected

"Consideration will be given to all recommendations to adjust the zoning district boundaries to the maximum convenience of the property owners consistent with the general welfare of Stroud Township."

Based on an earlier conference, a number of revisions on the map have been taken into consideration so all suggestions may be reviewed before submitting the commission's views to the township supervisors in the near future, he said.

On a survey conducted by the Neighborhood Renewal Consultants, Inc., the total population for the township is expected to increase to approximately 9,400 persons by 1970. It is upon these figures that planning and zoning commission members are basing their proposed plans, Sanborn explained.

With the aid of slides showing what the township looks like at present and what it will look like if the proposed plans are accepted, the fact that 74 percent of the land in the township has not as yet been committed to future use, was brought out by a planning consultant.

Share In Growth

Allan C. Williams, representative of the Neighborhood Renewal Consultants, Inc., emphasized, "Every property owner can have an orderly way to share in the prospective growth of the township."

He added, "The intent of the ordinance is to help development by some guidance and to make sure there will be no hardships as land is sold for future use."

In the building code recommended with the program, Sanborn and Williams pointed out that safety factors will be one of the more important points taken into consideration in future construction of commercial buildings and public institutions. The code will not affect present buildings, nor will it require a building permit for normal repairs, they explained.

After Sanborn and Williams spoke a question and answer period was conducted.

Some of the questions were:

(Q) Will the plan create a monopoly in regards to places of business?

(A) No, there is too much land for expansion. If in one residential area there is one store and if the population in that area grows, certainly there will be changes in the ordinance to make another store available.

Do-It-Yourself

(Q) Will this eliminate the "do-it-yourself" builder?

(A) If the man has the ability and the confidence to do the job he will be left alone, providing he is not building a fire trap or something of that nature.

(Q) Could this issue be placed on the ballot for the township residents to vote on?

(A) Yes.

(Q) If the Township Supervisors pass this plan and were voted out of office at the next election could the new supervisors make the necessary changes to do away with the project?

(A) Yes.

Williams, at this point, told the body present that many of their questions could be answered from the report drawn up and if anyone would like a copy to see him and he would see that they received a copy.

Continued Tonight

The hearing will be continued tonight at 7:30 in the Court House. The Township Supervisors are planning to attend.

Governor Names Brislin Member Of Armory Board

GOV. David L. Lawrence yesterday appointed John A. Brislin, Monroe County Democratic chairman, as a member of the State Armory Board in the Department of Military Affairs.

It is the duty of this board to provide, equip, maintain, manage and regulate armories within the limits of the Commonwealth for the use of the Pennsylvania National Guard.

The board may also, with the approval of the Governor, accept gifts of land, with or without buildings thereon, to be used for military purposes, may purchase properties for armory purposes and sell any buildings or armory sites which are no longer used for military purposes.

Brislin's appointment is subject to approval by the Senate before he takes over as a member of the board. He is a resident of Stroudsburg RD 3.

Maj. Gen. A. J. Drexel Bidle Jr., is chairman of the board, whose membership also includes Gov. Lawrence, three members of the Pennsylvania National Guard and one other person.

Recess To June 6 Voted By Assembly

HARRISBURG (AP) — The 1960 Legislature recessed Monday night until June 6.

Gov. Lawrence and the Democratic-controlled House bowed to the wishes of the Republican Senate on the issue. They had wanted final adjournment immediately.

Sen. James S. Berger, Republican floor leader restated the GOP's position: The recess will give the lawmakers an opportunity to look at the Commonwealth's revenue situation in four months. The first half of the state's two-year fiscal period ends May 31.

May Adjourn

"If there is nothing more to do then, we will adjourn finally," said Berger.

Berger indicated that if the Lawrence administration is correct in its gloomy projection of the revenue outlook at the end of May, the lawmakers will adjourn.

Rep. Stephen McCann, House Democratic floor leader, said it was his understanding that if the May 31 balance sheet does not indicate a surplus, "we will adjourn sine die (finally)."

There wasn't a word of objection. Both the House and Senate went along with the recess plan. Monday was the seventh legislative day of the current session, which convened Jan. 5.

The year-long 1959 session adjourned that day.

Snow Glazes Highways In Pocono Area

HAZARDOUS driving conditions were reported in some sections of the Poconos last night as snow followed rain.

At Milford and Pocono Lake, State Police reported heavy snow and said roads were in bad shape. At Mount Pocono, troopers said highway crews were on the job early and, although it was still snowing, highways were in "pretty good shape."

Stroudsburg barracks said there had been no reports of hazardous conditions in this area.

Mystery Sub Still Hunted By Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — The Argentine Navy said Monday seven ships and a group of military planes are continuing a hunt for a mystery submarine.

But officials said they could not say whether the boat was still in the Golfo Nuevo, where the Navy says it detected strange objects, presumably submarines, a week ago.

Disturbed By Stories

The Navy secretary made the comments after meeting with President Arturo Frondizi. He said he did not know if the submarine had been damaged by depth charges.

The Navy appeared definitely unhappy with sensational press stories about the submarine affair. Navy Secretary Gaston Clement characterized some press reports as "something out of Jules Verne."

Some newspapers said the submarine had been bottled up in Golfo Nuevo, an inlet 650 miles southwest of Buenos Aires. This is the same area where Argentine warships dropped depth charges on a mystery submarine a year ago. Navy sources thought that one was Russian, but they were not speculating on the latest incident.

Crash Driver Waives Hearing

WELLSBORO (AP) — The driver of a car in which four college students died waived a hearing on an involuntary manslaughter charge Monday night.

Merrill C. Perry, 22, of Harrisburg, a student at Grove City College, posted $500 bond before Justice of the Peace Stacey Spencer pending action by Tioga County Court.

Perry's auto crashed into a parked trailer along U.S. Route 15 near Tioga on Sunday, killing four Mansfield State College students and injuring two others.

Killed in the wreck were Robert L. Seal Jr., 19, Eldred; David Brooks, 19; Meshoppen, R. D.; Zane Kemler, 18, Berwick; and Phillip J. Dewitt, 21, Troy.

One Too Many

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A head count of the city jail's noon meal showed one too many prisoners yesterday. Police found a recently freed prisoner in line with the trustees and threw him out.

Polaris Held Key Weapon Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy, in a bid to build a missile-firing submarine fleet as soon as possible, will ask for 975 million dollars to pay for six more of the craft than are currently planned.

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, told this to a Senate hearing Monday, but he said he isn't sure the Defense Department will approve the proposal.

If the request is relayed to Congress and passed there, the Polaris submarine program would be shoved forward by more than a third. At present 15 of the nuclear-powered boats are on the way, in one stage or another.

Fleet Of 45 Needed

Burke testified earlier that a fleet of 45 such subs, equipped with 16 missiles each to strike at targets in the Soviet Union from under the sea, would give the United States a big enough retaliatory force to keep the Soviets at bay.

Questioned by Democratic senators, Burke said he probably would continue to support President Eisenhower's budget even if the President should turn down the Navy's appeal for a stepup in the Polaris program.

"If I didn't accept it, I wouldn't remain in my present position," the Navy chief said.

Sen. Howard Cannon (D-Nev.), pressed Burke for a yes or no answer as to whether the administration defense budget is "doing enough to protect the safety and security of this country at this time."

"I can't answer it yes or no," Burke said.

Too Little, Says Cannon

But a resounding "no" came from the other side of Capitol Hill where the chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee declared the United States has forfeited control over land, sea and air by spending too little for defense.

Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), who usually holds tight to the government pursestrings, appealed for an increase in President Eisenhower's $1-billion-dollar military budget.

And he threw his considerable influence behind moves to triple the money sought by Eisenhower to prepare for a constant airborne vigil by U.S. bombers.

"Every citizen in the United States is subject to direct attack and our enemy has the weapons to launch such an attack now," Cannon told the House.

Scare Charged

"By 1963 he will be able to destroy every major city on the face of the earth."

Republicans sprang to their feet and accused Cannon of trying to "scare the American people to death."

Rep. John R. Rhodes (R-Ariz.), said statements like Cannon's hand Russia a potential psychological weapon and deepen the danger that the Communists might spark war by misjudging U.S. strength.

Cannon joined equally influential Chairman Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee in supporting more spending for defense. In a Georgia speech, Russell said the administration's military policy "involves an unnecessary gamble with world peace and our national security."

"Blind" Admirals

In his House speech, Cannon aimed harsh words at the Navy, accusing "the admirals" of blindness, by obstinately refusing to recognize that technological advances had promoted the submarine to supremacy as a naval weapon.

Although he didn't say so, Cannon appeared to be striking at Navy ambitions for more super-carriers.

Just Between Us —

—by Bobby Westbrook

Seems a shame such a pleasant day should end with me and my ostrich plumes dragging home through the sleet and snow, all wet and bedraggled.

Usually I can count on Monday after a college vacation as being pretty dreary. The house seems all the lonelier for the evidence of life that still lingers: the coke bottles in odd places, the pillows on the floor, a trail of popcorn through the kitchen, books and papers strewn around and a faint echo of the piano and radio and television still lingering.

Seems as if it took a few days for the echoes to die away and the house to settle itself into its old-maid routine. Me, too. But I put on my red hat and my best shoes and sallied forth.

The Woman's Club meeting was bright with Sandy Schiebel as gay as the Valentines she passed around, with her red and white dress and bright red stockings. The speaker was excellent and Diane Flagler's rendition of Lincoln's Funeral March was properly lugubrious.

Les Carlton and I had a picnic interviewing George Correll on the eve of his 90th birthday. It's always fun to find people who have a zest for living at any age, and to hear the badinage between the two of them, brighter after 52 years of married life than between high school kids, was heartening.

It's always heartening, too, when you think you're destined for a solitary supper to encounter congenial company, so I was pretty set up. Until, that is, came the snow on the ice which still hasn't melted off that driveway.

What I thought, as the snow melted in my thin slippers and my feathers drooped, was nothing. St. Valentine, Lincoln or Mr. Correll would want to be quoted on.

GEORGE CORRELL, farmer, hotel keeper and horse trader, extraordinary, finds plenty of humor in life, even at 90. (Photo by Les Carlton)

George Correll, 90 Today, Claims 'Most Abused' Title; 'Most Amused' Friends Say

"The most abused man in the county" is 90 years old today. That is the title which George Correll claims for himself but he makes the claim with such a twinkle in his eye that it is evident that the "abuse" of his friends is the delight of his life.

A past master at the art of friendly insult, he encourages "abuse" and gives as good as he gets — or better. With his home at 4 Oakland Ave., East Stroudsburg, filled for the birthday celebration with all five of his children and their families, George was on his best behavior.

"Well, how are you?" was his hearty greeting to Les Carlton. "None of your business," snapped Les, who knew him of old and was a former neighbor in his Newfoundland days.

"Never could get a sensible answer from a Carlton," came George's prompt reply, his eyes alight with the joy of battle. All of his 90 years seem to have had the same zest, according to his rollicking reminiscences.

Born on a farm, "My father, Theodore, was the best farmer in the area," he interjected, where the Panther store and post office now stands, he has farmed his share in his own lifetime.

"I've had six farms," he recalls, "two in Pike county, two in Wayne, and two in Monroe." He still has a sizeable garden back of his home on Oakland.

Portraits Of Lincoln At Woman's Club Program

The Woman's Club of the Stroudsburg combined a Valentine party with observance of Lincoln's Birthday at their meeting held at the Stroud Community House.

Amy Howe Andre, a monologist, gave a program of "Portraits of Lincoln". In the first portion she gave Lincoln from the wistful viewpoint of his widow, wearing a black lace ballgown from the Civil War period and earrings, copied from those worn by Mary Todd Lincoln. In the second, she gave the robust views of Lincoln through the eyes of his friend Billy Herndon.

She was introduced by Mrs. Robert A. Miller, program chairman, who also read a prayer on Lincoln's Death. The solemn notes of a composition "Lincoln's Funeral March" were played by Diane Flagler, daughter of the club's music chairman, Mrs. Howard R. Flagler Jr.

The music, a collector's item was written 95 years ago and was from the music library of Diane's great grandmother, Mary Brodhead Evans, 1809 to 1865.

Another daughter to take part in the program was Sandy Schiebel, daughter of Mrs. Arthur Schiebel, fine arts chairman, who distributed the valentines which members had dropped into a box decorated with flowers by her mother.

The tea table was also decorated in the Valentine motif, with Valentine dolls revolving on music boxes on either side.

Stroud Union PTA Units To Join For Founders Day

On Monday, at 8 p.m. in the Stroud Union High School the combined P.T.A. groups of the Stroud Union School District will celebrate Founders' Day in a joint meeting. Founders' Day is a day which all P.T.A. groups celebrate each year.

The groups pay tribute to the founders of the P.T.A. movement — Alice McLellan Birney and Phoebe A. Hearst. This is the 63rd anniversary of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. Birney and Mrs. Hearst planned the first "Congress of Mothers" which was held in Washington, D. C. February 13, 1897. They suggested that parents and teachers needed more knowledge of children, their growth and development, and about the world in which the children would grow into good citizens.

This year Pennsylvania P.T.A.s are also honoring Mrs. David O. Mears. She originated the first birthday observance to honor the Founders. Her untiring efforts and unfailing inspiration were, in a great measure, responsible for the growth and success of Founders Day as a traditional observance.

Each year at Founders Day celebrations, a birthday gift of money is collected to extend the work of the P.T.A. This money is used for field service, organization of local units, leadership training, contacts with educational groups, and for further honoring the groups of parents and teachers.

The meeting on Monday night will be the second joint P.T.A. meeting of the 7 P.T.A.s of the Stroud Union School District. Thomas Watkins, Supervising Principal of Southern Lehigh School District, Coopersburg, will be the principal speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Forster were married in St. Bernard's Catholic Church, Easton, on February 2, 1935 by Rev. Hallohan.

Mrs. Forster is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Victor Shotko of Easton. Her father came to Scranton from Poland and worked in the coal mines. He was joined by Mrs. Shotko and the family moved to Easton where he was employed by the Taylor Wharton Co. and Metropolitan Edison Co. Mrs. Forster attended East Schools and Churchman's Business College. She was employed as bookkeeper for the N. Kasover Pans factory for a number of years.

Mr. Forster was born in Millhouse, Ind. and was graduated from Greensburg, Ind. High School in 1924. Through high school he worked in a printing plant mornings and evenings, riding a bicycle the two miles into the city. His father died when he was 14 and his mother, now 83, lives in St. Paul, Ind.

After graduation, he worked for the Greensburg Daily News as a reporter and in the plant as an apprentice printer. In 1926, he took a position with the Connorsville, Ind., Free Press and after a year came to the Sun Litho-Print Co., Inc. in East Stroudsburg. He has lived here ever since and has served in various capacities in the printing industry.

The forsters have two children: George B. Forster, Jr., 20, who was recently discharged from the Naval Aviation base at Jacksonville, Fla., and is now employed at Sun Litho-Print, Inc., and Elaine Margaret, 16, a junior in East Stroudsburg Area Joint High School.

A buffet dinner was served at the anniversary party, climaxed by the eight-tier wedding cake which had been baked by their daughter and decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom and a silver frame.

There were relatives and friends from Caldwell, N.J.; Easton, Scranton, Wind Gap, Cresco, Dingman's Ferry, Gilbert and the Stroudsburgs.

It is difficult to be a mother with five dollars in your pocket and work, as close as I, to the children's department of our store. Unless I run down the steps into the shoe or appliance departments, I cannot leave the section of the store housing me without walking past racks of dresses, tables of sweaters, displays of accessories and purses for little girls.

Just last week, for instance, I set out to buy linens for the house, and was stopped in my tracks by a brilliant red "shaggy dog" sweater that was marked down to 4.49, and had been my daughter's dream long before Christmas. I never did get those linens . . . so you can understand what I mean when I say I'm very happy that she's too large to wear our new shipment of Kate Greenaway dresses. They're absolutely "crazy cute," and I'm mad about them . . . but there are no 3 to 6x in my family, and I'm not sure whether to be glad or sorry.

It seems to me the styles for children are more whimsical with each new season, and Kate Greenaway has something that isn't found in the output of every manufacturer. It isn't just style . . . it's a certain ethereal sauciness that makes sugar and spice of any little girl who wears this proud label. This new selection is wonderful! It is crisp, lace-trimmed, demure, and modestly priced. Many of my favorites are priced at a lowly 5.98, and most of them have their own pet crinolines deeply hemmed in the same fabric as the dress. ALL the hems are deep, incidentally, permitting the child to grow without acquiring an awkward "hamstring" look.

To paraphrase the TV western's "he went that-away," let's just say "where little girls are concerned, fashion always goes GREENAWAY."

This past week I have been wearing a gold chain bracelet from which dangles one charm—a gold one with a lovely profile of Our Lady, a much cherished and unexpected gift. This past Christmas one of the waitresses at the Penn Stroud Hotel was interested in seeing the Madonna display I set up there for the Soroptimist Club. Having relatives in ecclesiastic service as Sister and Priest, she wrote them about me, and the medal is a gift from the Sister. This, and many other Madonnas, were left in an envelope on my desk and delivered to me when I was ill last week. I was sincerely touched, as I always am when I discover how very fine and nice people are. We expect kindness from our friends . . . but it is doubly precious when it comes from strangers.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The commissioners of the two rival professional football leagues met for four hours Saturday and it appears that a "no-raiding" agreement has been reached.

'Behavior'
Seen Going
By Boards

Robert L. Clark
City Editor
Daily Record

Dear Mr. Clark:

Probably and not possibly, I am out of order in writing this, but as an American, a mother, a homemaker, and a teacher, it seems to me that in teaching our children of today the real meaning of charity, citizenship, and sportsmanship, it is to coin a phrase "going by the boards."

One example of this needless neglect has been made apparent through athletics. Never in all the sporting events I have ever viewed, has there been such a complete lack of respect shown to officials and players as has been shown by adult spectators, of the Monroe County League basketball games of this season. One official, as I am sure many people are aware, was literally attacked at a league game a few weeks ago. How then, if adults act this way, can we expect our adults of tomorrow to act any differently. Example is personified.

Certainly any intelligent, mature person must realize that a qualified P.I.A.A. official would not deliberately call a decision for or against any team, which in truth is comprised of young men, trying to do their best, not men who have achieved the ability or fulfilled their capacity to do their best.

I don't profess to be an expert on the subject, nor do I think one may, riled up individual such as I, can change or even help the situation. Where, but through the medium of the press, might some individuals gain the foresight that is so badly needed in such an important phase of building good, wholesome citizens of tomorrow.

Very sincerely yours,
C. Mildred Shollenberger

Ohio State
Ups String

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Ohio State ran its string of Big Ten Conference basketball victories to eight straight Monday night at the expense of Wisconsin. The score was 106-69.

Sophomore Jerry Lucas led the Buckeye scoring assault with 26 points, just what he averaged in his runnerup role in Big Ten scoring. He got plenty of help from teammates Larry Siegfried, who chipped in 22, and Mel Nowell, who added 18.

Wisconsin was only in the game for a little while at the start to the cheers of 12,187 partisan fans — a record for the fieldhouse this season — as the Badgers grabbed the lead from OSU on a jump shot by Jack Ullweuling that made it 5-4 with three and one-half minutes gone.

Ohio State regained the lead at 21-20 midway in the first half and never relinquished it. The Buckeyes led 46-33 at halftime.

Stroudsburg Faces Stiff Test At Catty

Cavaliers
Host Wilson
In L-N Tilt

STROUD UNION gets its first big test of the second-half Lehigh Valley schedule at Catasauqua tonight.

Only two other area games are scheduled as the schoolboy season enters the final stretch.

East Stroudsburg entertains front running Wilson Boro and Bangor is at Parkland.

Stags Idle
Southern Wayne is idle and the Monroe Scholastic teams have completed their schedule with Tobyhanna winning the crown.

Catty spanked the Mountaineers 89-62 in the team's first meeting. The Rough Riders are undefeated in 19 games and the home court advantage doesn't figure to make Bob Wert's team's task any easier.

If the Mounties are able to top Catty it would be a major upset and would give the locals a chance at the loop crown.

Catasauqua won the first half and is tied with Stroudsburg and Whitehall for the second half leadership. All three clubs have 2-0 marks.

Two Out
Wert must face his high school alma mater without the services of Leo Frailey and

The Cavaliers of Doug Schoonover stand a good chance of ending in the Lehigh-Northampton League cellar unless they can pick up a win in their last two games.

The Cavaliers meet Coplay on Friday and a week later enter their league season against Fountain Hill. Stroud Union provides the competition in the season's finale.

Tough Task
Bangor, winner of only one league game, has a tough assignment against Parkland. The Parkers have a 2-2 mark, losing only to Nazareth and Pen Argyl.

The Slaters have four games left on their schedule including a make-up game with Fountain Hill on Feb. 23.

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston entry in the American Football League Monday picked Lou Saban of Western Illinois as head coach.

Saban, 38, who captained the Cleveland Browns in the short-lived All America Conference in 1946-47-48, had been head coach at Western Illinois for three years. His team had a 9-0 record at the Macomb, Ill., university last season.

William H. Sullivan, Jr., president of the Boston AFL club said Saban has been given a three-year contract at "very satisfactory" terms.

Rain, Sleet Causes Heavy Damage
At Site Of Winter Olympic Games

SQUAW VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—Rain and sleet, whipped by gale winds, buffeted this Olympic winter games site, Monday, toppled trees, damaged ski runs and posed a threat of flooded lowlands.

The situation was critical in this area where the games are scheduled Feb. 18-28.

A statement from the organizing committee declared:

"All possible measures are being taken to protect the Olympic facilities from the potential damage."

Flood Warnings
It added, "As a result of the rare, warm storm, flood warnings are out in the entire area. All ski courses, the five artificial ice rinks, the snow compressed public parking lot, roads, bridges and other facilities through Squaw Valley are endangered. In addition, all permanent buildings are threatened with serious flood damage."

Managing Director H. D. Thoreau gave assurance that every possible measure has been taken to save Olympic property.

A main power line went out of service when a 75-foot tree crashed down 30 feet behind the administration building and left the line dangling. No one was hurt.

A power company employee whistled pedestrians away from the area and emergency power went on in the building.

40 MPH
Winds in gulches ranged from 40 m.p.h. in the valley to 90 m.p.h. on the peaks. Four huge plaster figures of Olympic athletes toppled. One, in front of the 3½-million-dollar ice arena, came down on a ticket booth.

Lake St. Moritz in 1948, lingering warmth left puddles of water on the ice rinks.

In 1952 at Oslo, trucks had to be sent out to bring in snow from the mountains.

AGAIN At Cortina D'Ampezzo in 1956 there was a snow shortage until the last minute.

But in each case the games proceeded on schedule.

Tech Gains
9th Victory

ATLANTA (AP) — Roger Kaiser fired 30 points Monday night and led Georgia Tech to its ninth Southeastern Conference victory in 10 games, downing Louisiana State 76-56.

Tech's season record is now 18-3 LSU, now 1-7 in the conference, is 3-14 overall.

Ted led by only 41-40 at the half after the surprisingly potent Tigers made a 57.1 percent of their field goals.

Tech stormed back at the start of the second half and outscored LSU 17-2 in a 6-minute 54-second span.

Nat, Red Players Keys To Rise Of Cuban Champs

HAVANA (AP) — The Washington Senators and Cincinnati Reds, two teams that failed to distinguish themselves in the 1959 big league season, provided the key players in Cienfuegos' climb from the cellar to the pennant in the Cuban Winter League.

With Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos of the Senators and Raul Sanchez of the Reds doing the pitching, the Cienfuegos turned the race into a runaway.

Added Pitcher
Manager Tony Castano added Orlando Pena, another right-hander owned by Cincinnati, to bolster his staff for the Caribbean series opening Wednesday in Panama.

The 1960 Caribbean champ was the Almendares team which finished last in the four-team Cuban League this season.

After a rocky start, Pena became one of the league's most effective pitchers in the second half of the season. He piled up a 10-9 record for the Almendares before he joined the Cienfuegos for the series.

Pascual pitched the pennant clincher, a 9-3 victory over Marianao, for his 14th victory against five defeats. He was the league's strikeout king. Ramos has a 10-5 record and Sanchez, the league's earned-run champ, had an 11-4 mark.

Provided Catcher
Cincinnati also provided the No. 1 catcher, Dutch Dotterer, and three other top regulars. Center-fielder Tony Gonzalez, league batting champion; shortstop Leo Cardenas, considered the best in the league; and second baseman Octavio Rojas belong to the Cincinnati organization and will join the Reds for spring training.

George Altman of the Chicago Cubs, used at first base, provided much of the club's power. Don Eaddy, former bonus baby who has had trials with the Cubs, was regarded the league's top leadoff man, although he made many errors at third base.

Roman Mejias, Pittsburgh veteran, rounded out the regular outfield.

New French
Skating Star

PARIS (AP)—Andre Kouprianoff, a 21-year-old Frenchman of Russian descent, has given a new glow to French hopes in the Winter Olympics.

Kouprianoff had been rated just a country where the sport arouses no enthusiasm.

A few weeks ago an official at the French Skating Federation said "He is being taken to Squaw Valley for experience, but we don't expect too much of him."

The outlook changed suddenly Sunday when he finished second to Boris Stenin of Russia in the world combined championship at Davos, Switzerland. Kouprianoff finished third in the 1,500 meter race and 10th in the 10,000 meter event.

Top Performance
"We knew Kouprianoff was progressing, but we had no idea he could turn in such a marvelous performance," a spokesman at the federation office said.

Kouprianoff was born in Paris and started skating as a boy. About three years ago, he seemed to show some promise, but never was able to present a real threat in the French championships.
